PERSONAL INFORMATION

1. Describe in detail any instances in which you have been threatened or impeded in your work. Where possible, please identify the nature and source of any threats. Though we understand it is difficult to recount the difficult situations you have no doubt faced in Iraq, it would be very helpful if you could offer specific information about any direct threats or risks you have faced. Particularly helpful would be any details relating to instances that you believe may be linked to your work at the university, your publications or any other concerns that may stem from your work or position.

2. Describe any personal considerations that might restrict your ability to accept a fellowship in a certain location. These may include language restrictions, medical conditions, family members with special needs or other similar concerns.

NOT REQUIRED, BUT ENCOURAGED IF AVAILABLE:

1. Two (2) academic/professional letters of reference. Letters from academic and/or professional colleagues who can speak to your research, publications, teaching or other advanced academic experience.
2. Two (2) personal letters of reference. Letters from colleagues or persons who are aware of the difficulties that you have been facing as well as your professional background. Letters from colleagues both inside and outside of your home country are helpful. These letters can be combined with an academic/professional reference.

**Please address all letters to the Iraq Scholar Rescue Project.
